Chief Executive Officer
Windmill International, Inc.

Harry A. Pape, CEO of Windmill International, Inc. and Principal with Stone Associates is passionate about the transforming benefits an Integrated Digital Environment can provide to any organization. Valued speaker and consultant, his seminal work for the Air Force has guided the movement towards a true integrated and net-centric digital environment and currently focuses on implementing an information asset management culture as part of making the CIO role a true information, rather than technology, governance function. Past audiences include 2010 Enterprise Data World, 2008 Semantic Technologies Conference, National Contract Management Association World Congress, The Association for Work Process Improvement, Project Management Institute, Meeting Planners International and Air Force IT & KM Conferences. Harry is an effective analyst, strategist, educator, motivator and coach. His “owner/keeper”, information asset management and other foundation tenets have captured his clients’ imagination and undergird a principled process for transforming the way organizations do work in a fully-networked world.
